SAPPA's Meeting with Daniel Zedan: Insights on the 2024 USA Pecan Harvest and Market Trends

SAPPA recently held a virtual meeting with Daniel Zedan to discuss the 2024 pecan harvest and gather his insights on the pecan market. The U.S. expects this year's crop to be similar in size to last year's, with a potential slight increase in volume. The previous harvest produced around 62,000 tons kernel.

In 2023, shelled pecan exports reached 17,500 tons, with the primary markets being Canada, Mexico, the UK, and Europe.

The Georgia crop is looking particularly strong this season, currently it is not too severely affected by hurricanes which recently passed through this area.

US is still planting new pecan orchards; however...

BESKERM JOU OES Teen Bollwurm en Swaminfeksies, OF....

Afrika Bollwurm het gedurende die afgelope seisoen oor groot produksie gebiede voorgekom en in sekere areas baie skade aangerig. Vir sommige plase word die skade so hoog as 50% beraam! Dit is nou die perfekte tyd om jou beplanning vir die nuwe seisoen, wat om die draai is, in plek te kry.

Dit is noodsaaklik om nou jou monitoring vir hierdie pes op te skerp deur gebruik te maak van feremoon lokvalle. Lees die volle artikel hier: <https://www.sappa.za.org/beskerm-jou-oes-teen-bollwurm-en-swaminfeksies-of/>

Little Eden – Elvira Rota Village

Since 1967, Little Eden has been providing residential care for children and adults with profound intellectual disabilities. Today, it stands as a leading non-profit organization, caring for 300 individuals of all races across two specialized residential care facilities.

One of these facilities, Elvira Rota Village (ERV), was purchased by the founders of the Little Eden Society to bring their vision to life. Their goal was to "...create a village of love... to develop parks filled with plants and flowers, fostering appreciation for the wonders of creation."
